

In the realm of Point-Set Topology, a Toronto space is a topological space that is homeomorphic to every subspace of the same cardinality. We'll explore results from various topologists as well as open avenues of exploration concerning the separation axioms, compactification, and axiomatic extensions of the Zermelo-Fraenkel-Choice Axioms.